In addition to sources listed in the Endnotes I am including on the next few pages information about The (LDS Church) Family History Centers and a list of the available microfilm records for the town of Morra de Sanctis if you are interested in pursuing additional research. You will find this on the internet at www.familysearch.org :

Morra de Sanctis "Registri dello stato civile", 1810-1910

Anthony Sarni, Jr. and Michelle Friedman both published a Sarni Family History on the world wide web at www.genealogy.com Volume 27, Tree 2488 and Volume 42, Tree 2050 (By subscription or CD purchase).

Other internet sites which I used extensively are www.Ancestry.com for the 1910, 1920 and 1930 US Federal censuses, social security death indexes, military registration and maps; www.rootsweb.com ; www.familysearch.org ; www.ellisland.com and www.cyberdriveillinois.com for their state archives.

YOU are a member, so visit www.SarniFamilySite.com to keep your personal information up to date and catch up on the latest family news. Contact Michelle Friedman or Dawn Zwack, our family administrators, for your password.

What is a Family History Center?

- Family History Centers are branch facilities of the Family History Library in Salt Lake City.
- Centers provide access to most of the microfilms and microfiche in the Family History Library to help patrons identify their ancestors.
- Most centers are located in meetinghouses of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Centers are administered and operated by local Church members.
- Everyone is welcome to come to the centers and use Family History Center resources.

Location and Hours

- There are more than 3,400 centers worldwide. To find a Family History Center near you, go to Find a Family History Center.
- Each center determines its own hours. Where available, the information in Find a Family History Center includes the hours of service and a telephone number. Before you visit, contact the center to verify when it is open.

Services

- Research help from volunteer staff. Staff members will not do research for you. However, they can give you an orientation about the center, answer some research questions (research expertise in each center varies), help you use center resources, and order microfilms and microfiche from the Family History Library.
- Training classes. Many centers offer patron classes on a variety of genealogical research topics.
- Referrals to other libraries and archives. Family History Center staff may be aware of other institutions in the area that can help you.

Resources

- The Family History Library Catalog on microfiche. The catalog lists and describes the materials in the Family History Library.
- FamilySearch™. Many centers have a computer with FamilySearch, a collection of computer files and programs to help individuals search for information about their ancestors. FamilySearch includes:
 - Family History Library Catalog
 - International Genealogical Index
 - Ancestral File
 - Social Security Death Index
 - Scottish Church Records
 - United States Military Index
- Personal Ancestral File. Personal Ancestral File is a computer program that allows patrons to organize their family history information. Most Family History Centers have Personal Ancestral File available for patron use on a center computer.
- Additional computer resources. Centers may have additional resource files on compact disc.
- Microfilm and microfiche from the Family History Library. Centers only keep some microfilms and microfiche in their collections. Patrons can arrange to have copies of most Family History Library microfilms and microfiche loaned to the center for a small fee. For more information about loans, see Frequently Asked Questions.
- Published Resources. Most centers have a small collection of published reference sources that include research helps, genealogies, histories, gazetteers, atlases, and maps.

Q: What is the difference between the Family History Library and family history centers?

A: The Family History Library, located in Salt Lake City, is the main repository for most of the genealogical information the Church has collected. Family history centers (more than 3,500 around the world) are branches of the Family History Library. These centers eliminate the need to travel to Salt Lake City to use the record collection. Most of the microfilm and electronic data collections are accessible at centers around the world. There is no charge for use of the Family History Library or family history centers. Volunteer staffs are on hand to lend assistance.

Q: Do I have to listen to your Church missionaries if I visit the family history center?

A: No. You are welcome to ask questions of the missionaries if you see them in the family history center.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: How can I find where a family history center is located?

A: To find the location of a center, go to Find a Family History Center.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: Can anyone use a family history center?

A: Yes, everyone is welcome to visit family history centers and use center resources.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: What should I bring when I visit the center?

A: Bring the name of an ancestor you wish to research and information you know about the person (such as birth, death, or marriage information). The more information you have about your ancestor, the better your chances for successful research. It may also be helpful to bring a completed pedigree chart.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: Do I do my own research when I go to the family history center?

A: Yes. Center staff members will not do research for you, but they will help you use center resources so that you can do your own research. Some lineage-linked family history information is available in computer databases at the center.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: Will a family history center help me find a person who is still living?

A: No, centers help patrons identify their deceased ancestors. Centers cannot help patrons find lost friends or relatives who are still living.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: What services do family history centers provide?

A: To find out about the services available in a center, go to Services.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: What resources do family history centers have?

A: To find out about the resources available in a center, go to Resources.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: What will I find when I visit a family history center?

A: That depends on the center. Centers vary in the amount of space, number of staff members, the research expertise of the staff, hours of service, and the size of the collection of microfilms, microfiche, books, and other research resources.

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: Are there any fees to visit a center or to use its resources?

A: There is no fee to visit a family history center or to use most of its resources. Research outlines and resource guides may be sold at cost. There are small fees for:

- Photocopies
- Computer printouts
- Microfilms or microfiche loaned to the center from the Family History Library to cover postage

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: What does it cost to order a microfilm or microfiche? How long will a microfilm or microfiche be available in the center?

A: In the United States and Canada the following loan fees and periods are current:

Type of Loan	Loan Fee	Loan Period
Microfilm loan	U.S.$3.25	30 days
Microfilm loan, 1st renewal	Additional U.S.$3.25	Additional 60 days
Microfilm loan, 2 nd renewal	Additional U.S.$3.25	As long as needed
Microfiche loan	U.S.$.15 per fiche	As long as needed

Centers may add a small fee to notify a patron that the microfilm or fiche has arrived in the center. In the United States, some centers are required by state law to charge a small use tax.

Outside the United States and Canada, loan fees and loan periods depend upon exchange rates and local policies. Contact your local family history center for current loan fees and loan periods.

When the microfilms and microfiche arrive in the center, they will be available for you and other patrons to use until the loan period has expired. (Microfiche generally remain in the center.)

Return to FAQ Menu.

Q: Can I use Family History Library microfilms and microfiche outside the family history center?

A: No. Microfilms and microfiche loaned to family history centers do not belong to the family history center or the patron who ordered them. Microfilms and microfiche cannot be removed from a center or transferred from one center to another.
